NAVARRAN KILLED IN ODD ACCIDENT

Nello Franchi Dies Under Runaway Road Machine

Nello Franchi of Navarro was crushed to death Monday evening by a run-away scraper near the hotel of his nephew, Dan Pardini.

The accident took place about 8:30 o'clock three miles south of Boonville when the 17-ton machine broke loose from the towing car and plunged off the highway and ran through a fence into a creek. The scraper was the property of the Utah Construction Company, which is engaged in building the Masonite Corporation logging road from the Navarro basin to Ukiah.

Deputy Coroner William White who made the investigation, took statements from employees of the company who were engaged in towing the big machine from Cloverdale to Navarro.

Grover Rose, driver of the Reo truck that was towing the machine, said the gooseneck broke loose while he was going down a slight grade. When he reached the level road, he said, he stepped on the foot throttle and felt the scraper jerk, as it always did when the pace of the tow car changed. He was driving about 20 miles per hour and was unaware of what had happened until he heard some one call to him and he looked back and saw the scraper was not there.

Norman Jensen of Santa Rosa was driving the rear pilot car and saw the coupling pin drop out and roll along the road. He was 75 or 100 feet to the rear and speeded up to catch Rose and tell him what happened. When about 25 feet behind the truck the scraper pulled loose and headed off the road to the right. Jensen saw a man to the left of the path of the scraper who was coming toward the road, and the man seemed to run toward the runaway machine, then disappeared.

Robert Deck of Fort Bragg was at the Navarro store and heard Rose sounding the horn of his truck. He looked and saw the scraper going down the grade and the man in its path.

The machine had left Cloverdale at 11 o'clock Monday morning, according to Rose. Van Ness Swenson of Los Angeles was driving the pilot car ahead and Norman Jensen in the rear of the scraper. The scraper was coupled to the truck by an inch and three-fourths pin and three-eights safety chains. These had been checked near Boonville shortly before the machine became uncoupled.

Mr. Franchi was 62 years of age, a retired lumber worker. He was the uncle of Ernest and Dan Pardini of Navarro and is survived by his wife, Mrs. Beppa Franchi.

Funeral services in charge of the Eversole Mortuary of Ukiah were held Thursday morning, September 30, at Studebaker Cemetery at Philo. Rev. Father Riorden of Elk was the officiating clergyman.

Reservoir Bids To Get Careful Study

City council will open bids October 6 for construction of a concrete reservoir for water storage, but, reserving its right to reject any bid they consider too high or otherwise unsatisfactory, will be certain they are getting the most for their money before any contract is awarded.

This was decided at their meeting Wednesday night when representatives of a steel reservoir manufacturing company and a pre-stressed concrete type reservoir convinced them their prices and specifications were worthy of consideration.

They were told it is too late to enter their bids through an addendum to the legal specifications for the reservoir which were published according to law, but that the council is doing its utmost to build the reservoir to the best advantage in price and materials and will not confine their consideration to the reinforced concrete type if they are convinced another type would be more satisfactory.

Bids will also be opened Wednesday, October 6 for construction of the sewer farm and other city improvements for which the voters have approved bonds.

Mendocino High Gets More Cash

Funds of $19,044 were voted by the State Allocations Board to augment the building fund of the Mendocino Union high school district.

The district, which is building a 1-story structure with five classrooms, library, music room and office, has raised $122,000 through a bond issue. The district received a grant of $109,936.52 from the state previously and the new allowance will give the district sufficient funds to meet the estimated cost of $231,555.27 for the new building.

Deluxe Motel Looms South of City Airport

A deluxe motor court will be built on property adjoining the airport on the south if a sale now in progress is consummated. E. W. Dutton, owner of the 17 acres which make a U boundary on the airport property and face on Redwood Highway south, appeared before the city council Wednesday night to obtain a temporary water supply for the acreage. The sale, to Charles E. Schultz and Dalton B. Ellis, of Modesto, hinges on enough water to begin construction, he said. He was represented by Attorney Leo M. Cook.

The prospective buyers were there and assured the council their plans call for a motel structure and other development of the land which will be an asset to the community. They asked to adjoin a two-inch pipe line to the four-inch main at the airport at their own expense. The property has an option agreement on water from the proposed new reservior when it becomes available.

The acreage is now under litigation on a test case to establish the height of buildings which may be constructed within certain distances of the airport. If the sale is consumated, the new owners will continue the litigation in the case which has been heard and is being submitted to the court at an early date.

The council, plagued with various requests for water service south of the city limits, indicated it will supply the property if in the opinion of its engineers, the supply is sufficient in that part of the system. It will be necessary, Councilman Larry Wildburger said, to set a definite policy on how far the city plans to extend its utilities. "We'd better decide if we're going on to Hopland, or maybe Santa Rosa," he said.

J. H. Penner, who has made a similar request for a private line to supply his subdivision south of the city, was told he will be supplied if the volume warrants the extra use. All outside lines are put in at the expense of the property owner.

In order to provide these outside services, the council will have to recind a resolution, passed before the new well was brought in, to limit its outside services to present users.

The city is in the water business, Mr. Penner was told, and it will be their policy to supply every user possible bearing in mind that taxpayers of the city own the system and have first claim on the water. It will also be the policy of the city to retain complete control of any new services and meters which are installed.

Special Baseball Offering Sunday

The second game of the Little World Series to be played this Sunday will be preceded at 1 o'clock by a game between the combined Calpella-Redwood Valley Oldtimers and the Ukiah Oldtimers, who recently defeated Talmage. The price of admission will remain the same for the two games. The line-up for Calpella-Redwood Valley will be as follows:

Ukiah Oldtimers line-up as printed below may be shifted before game time:

Police Officers Back From Training School

Police Officers Ladd Thomas and Robert Amundsen returned Saturday from Santa Rita where they spent two weeks receiving technical training at the California Peace Officers Institute.

Both officers completed 82 hours of study at the school which was held on the Alameda county prison farm grounds of Sheriff H. P. Gleason of that county.

Construction of a Redwood room at the Boonville Hotel is being rushed to completion.

BURKE QUESTIONS STATE ROAD PLAN

Calls Proposed Set-Back Ordinance Illegal

The state's program to widen State street through Ukiah to an 80-foot thorofare, met strong opposition from City Attorney Wayne Burke when a proposed set-back ordinance came up for consideration in council meeting Wednesday night.

Attached to the ordinance was a map, prepared by the state, which reveals inequalities in the amounts of property fronting State street which would be condemmed or otherwise acquired by the state. Some property owners would be deprived of as much as 37 feet of their frontage, others as little as 12 feet.

The ordinance, Mr. Burke explained, would require the city under police powers to prohibit any construction on these frontages, although there is no certainty the state will ever buy them, or if it does, no protection to the property owner against decreased land values in the future.

Similar ordinances passed by other cities at the request of the state have been declared unconstitutional, Mr. Burke said, and if Ukiah passes this one there will be suits filed to establish its unconstitutionality. He considers it an abuse of private property rights and discriminatory. He spoke with considerable feeling and advised the council to instruct him to write the state highway department of his opinion and ask them to rectify unconstitutional aspects of the ordinance. He was so instructed.

Some property owners on State street have already sold set-back frontages to the state and others are considering state offers. Downtown State street between Clay and the northern city limits averages about 42 feet in width, South of Clay street the highway widens to more than 60 feet toward the southern city limits. The new theater trylon would have to be set back in the event of widening and practically all buildings on the east and west side of the thoroughfare would be cut back to conform to the 80-foot highway.

Since the city has long advocated widening of State street, Mayor Forrest Hughes feels they should not jeopardize the program, he said.

"Conspirators" To Appear On Friday

Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock will be the second appearance for arraignment of Wiley Caddel, former investigator for the office of the attorney general; Willie Griffin, one-time bookmaker; James Mulligan, former Los Angeles policeman; Paul McCarty, local slot machine distributor, and Fred Grange and Robert Gray, Mendocino county resort operators.

All are charged in five counts, including bribery, conspiracy to commit bribery and conspiracy to violate the gambling laws in connection with slot machine operations in this county.

Originally arraigned on September 24, only three of the men were represented by counsel, although all but Mulligan said they had arranged for attorneys to represent them. Superior Judge Gibson put over the pleadings of all for one week, over the protest of Caddel's attorney, who thought his client should be spared another trip here from Los Angeles.

WILLITS RATIFIES SEWER BONDS, 3-1

Willits has approved a $125,000 sewer bond issue for the installation of a large sewage disposal plant and new sewer lines in several sections of the city. The bonds carried a 3 to 1 majority. Final count of the ballots was 214 and 77.

Of the 1300 registered voters in the city only 298 persons voted in the election. A two-thirds majority was required.

Most of the preliminary work towards acquiring the new facilities has been done, with actual work on the improvements to get under way early in the spring, according to the council.

Work embraced by the bonds includes a disposal plant sufficient for a population of 5000 persons and installation of sewage lines for residents of Holly, Locust, Walnut, South street, north and part of the south end of Main street, Central and San Francisco avenues, county coast road, south end of North street, west end of Franklin street, west end of Commercial street and Redwood avenue.

Five settling ponds will be installed in addition at the disposal plant, which will eliminate the present unsanitary dumping of raw sewage into the creek adjoining the plant area.

Advertising for bids for the project and awarding of the contract will be completed as soon as possible.

Raymond F. Foster, USN, of Ukiah is serving aboard the submarine tender USS Orion which has just been awarded the Battle Efficiency Pennant and "E" for her general excellence throughout the fiscal year ending July, 1948.

Masonite Plant To Open Within Year

Here from Chicago last week to survey progress on Masonite Corporation's Ukiah project and private road construction into timberlands, Eugene Holland, president, predicted the new plant to be built just north of town will be completed and in operation by October, 1949.

Contracts for construction of the warehouse-type plant will be let within the next few weeks, according to E. T. F. Wohlenberg, general manager here. Capacity of the initial plant will be between 300 and 400 cords of redwood and fir per day and the company expects to employ, in plant operations, approximately 380 men. The building will be a reinforced steel structure and will provide administration offices for Mr. Wohlenberg and his office staff and engineers.

It is expected the private road being constructed by Utah Construction Company into large timber tracts purchased for Masonite products manufacture, will be completed in June. An additional payroll for logging and timber operations will add to the employment in prospect but the number of men required has not been estimated. The company will buy some pulp and produce some of its own.

Visiting here with Mr. Holland were other officials of the company including John Coates, vice-president from the Chicago office, and Frank Lesniak, chief engineer for Masonite who is preparing plans and specifications for the building and will remain in Ukiah another month. Mr. Holland and Mr. Coates returned to Chicago last week.

A state report indicates there will be a new highway to replace the Hopland grade route to Lakeport.

Verdict Pronounced On Rioters Is Upheld

Echoes of the 1946 sawmill riots were awakened Wednesday when District Attorney James E. Busch received word from Sacramento that the Court of Appeals had sustained the judgment of Superior Judge Lilburn Gibson against John Bundte and William Phillips, ringleaders in the rioting and assaults at the Hollow Tree mill on January 29, 1946, and at the Richardson mill three miles east of Willits on February 6.

The district attorney was advised that the Appellate court's decision was unanimous on all points taken by the defense attorneys, and was fully set forth in a 17-page opinion, copies of which have not been received here.

Bundte and Phillips were indicted by the Mendocino County Grand Jury for rioting and assault with deadly weapons. Four other members of the rioting mill pickets, George Sherrard, Robert Moore, Richard McCord and Joe Pimentel, were indicted by the same ujry for rioting.

The court's sentence on the three charges of rioting was 180 days in the county jail, the sentences to run concurrently. On the charges of assault, of which there were 12, they were sentenced to Son Quentin prison for the term prescribed by law. Sentence was passed on April 28, 1947.

The rioters were represented by Attorneys Clarence Todd, Henry C. Todd, Gordon W. Mallatratt and George E. Flood of San Francisco.

The day following the sentence the attorneys filed notice of appeal with exceptions taken to the whole of the judgment Transcript on appeal was filed on May 3.

Riots at Hollow Tree and Willits followed a long season of picketing of struck lumber mills in this and Humboldt county and of the N.W.P. yards at Santa Rosa.

Blasts of gunfire at Hollow Tree scattered the pickets on January 29 when Ed Sands of Rockport was assalled in the cab of his truck and struck in the face by a stone thrown by the pickets. His nose was broken.

Sands unloaded from the truck and emptied his automatic at the pickets.

Sheriff Broaddus took charge with half a dozen deputies and ended the trouble there, but the strikers, with the deputies massed at that point, swiftly shifted the scene of battle and repeated their performance at the Richardson mill on February 6.

After the Grand Jury indictments had been returned, attorneys for the indicted men began a series of delaying tactics, the first one being to file with the Supreme Court a petition for a writ of prohibition, to command the Superior court to "desist from further proceedings in the action based on the Grand Jury indictments." This petition was filed on March 3 and was denied, the Supreme court's answer being delivered on the day the jury venire was drawn for the trial of Bundt and Phillips.

Appeal was also taken from the court's judgment in the matter of the other three defendants who were charged only with rioting and presumably the Court of Appeals will sustain the lower court.

This, however, does not end the matter, as the attorneys have declared they will take the case to the U. S. Supreme Court as a last resort. This is confidently expected, as anything short of a supreme effort to save the men from punishment would cause the union of lumber and mill workers to lose face.

The riots were the outgrowth of the prolonged strike of A.F.L. Lumber & Mill Workers Union in Mendocino and Humboldt counties, which set a record for length and endurance and has never been settled.

City Annexes New Addition

36-Acre Tract Incorporated South of Ukiah

City of Ukiah extended its corporate boundaries Wednesday night when by resolution the council approved the annexation of Southwest Addition. This is the unimproved 36-acre tract on which Blakeslee-Speiring will build some 200 homes. It adjoins Yokayo Heights on the south.

No agreement has yet been made on whether or not the city will acquire new utilities customers in the subdivision. Construction of the first 30 homes will begin between October 1 and 15, according to R. H. Henning and Gordon Bates who appeared on behalf of the construction firm.

The new home development will be an asset to the city, with two and three bedroom FHA and VA approved dwellings to be sold complete with all streets surfaced and utilities provided. Each home will be landscaped and seeded for lawn with a minimum of one tree to each lot.

The firm now has more inquiries from prospective buyers than houses projected for the initial construction but it plans at all times until the project is completed, to keep ahead of actual orders in homes under construction. FHA and veterans loans can be obtained on the houses through local banks to these federal agencies.

Bus Driver Hurt In Piercy Crash

Reginald Rice of Santa Rosa, a Greyhound bus driver, received minor injuries Friday morning in a collision with a truck and trailer driven by John Balakini of Reedley.

The accident took place at 3 o'clock in the morning a half-mile north of Piercy as the truck was taking a curve at high speed. The concrete was slippery and the trailer swung wide and collided with the front of the bus, which went out of control and hit a tree.

Patrolman Everett Molseed arrested Balakini for speeding and being on the wrong side of the highway.

Ft. Bragg to Get Dial Phone System

Fort Bragg telephone system will be changed to dial operations it was announced by John F. Brennan, manager of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company.

The project of replacing the present manual system will include construction of a new 1-story concrete block building on North Franklin avenue, between East Pine and East Laurel avenue.

When the building is completed, installation of the dial central office equipment will begin.

The dial conversion project at Fort Bragg is a part of the telephone company's huge construction program in which more than half a million dollars is going into new building and equipment every day throughout the Pacific coast.

Fenders Were Bent at St. Hospital Grounds

Cars belonging to James Brewer and Edward Dowlan, of Ukiah and Talmage, respectively, clashed on the Mendocino State Hospital grounds Tuesday morning at 1:10.

Patrolman Arif Stultz was called out to adjudicate the matter and gave each driver a ticket, both being in the wrong—Brewer for being on the wrong side of the road and Dowlen for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Fort Bragg city council last week opened probe of law enforcement laxity.

Highway Construction Hazards to Motorists

Motorists are advised by the California State Automobile Association to drive carefully and be on the alert for flagmen on U. S. 101 at a point seven miles north of Ukiah, where a new section of highway under construction is nearing junction with the original route.

Improvement of the grade and widening of the Willits to Fort Bragg road at a point nine miles west of Willits is under way, and drivers should be on the alert for road building equipment.

REDWOOD VALLEY

REDWOOD VALLEY, Sept. 29.—School opened Monday morning with the same teaching staff as last term with the exception of Miss Armen Tashjian of San Francisco who has the first and second grade and who will be music instructor. She will continue with the orchestra which was started last year by Gloria Paccini. Miss Tashjian is a graduate of San Francisco State College and specialized in music. Mrs. Lelia Williams has the third and fourth grades and Mrs. Margarie Neese, the fifth and sixth. John Oakes, principal, teaches grades seven and 8.

Miss Alma Knusula will again have charge of the school lunches, assisted by Mrs. Arlo Gillkison. P. Powell is custodian and Elbert Lane, bus driver.

Rev. and Mrs. Kyle, who are in evangelistic work, were visitors at the Redwood Valley Sunday school Sunday morning. Arrangements were made for Rev. Kyle to bring a message following the Sunday school hour Sunday, October 3, and also on October 10. Mrs. Kyle gave an illustrated Bible lesson which was very entertaining and impressive for the children, as well as the adults. She will present another lesson in like manner at Sunday school next Sunday. Rev Kyle is a graduate of Moody Bible Institute of Chicago and Mrs. Kyle was a student at Bible college in St. Paul, Minnesota. Both are good singers and will have special music. It is hoped these young people will be welcomed by a large attendance. Sunday school is at 10 and church is at 11 o'clock.

Postal Inspector Jacobson called at the post office recently and discussed the proposed rural route from Ukiah to Redwood Valley and inspected the present route. Although not strictly official it is unlikely a change will be made. The patrons will be glad to know if the decision becomes final. Mr. Jameson will continue to carry the mail. His route, however, would extend over the Salt Hollow road.

Last week's precipitatoin for Redwood Valley was 1.45 inches. The unexpected heavy rain has brought much concern to the vineyardists. The earlier varieties of grapes have been cracked considerably and with the cold weather has retarded the coloring and sugar content.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Trowbridge went to Oakland Friday to visit relatives, returning Monday.

Mrs. Emma Wright is enjoying a few days with friends in Ukiah.

Mr. Sam Leach, Sr., left Sunday for Seattle where he plans to be for a month. While there he will visit a sister and other relatives.

Mrs. C. Oliver and Mrs. George Lane were in the Bay area last week, returning home on Friday.

TEN YEARS AGO
Sept. 30, 1938

Names of 50 veniremen have been drawn for the jury which will sit during the trial of the matter of the state against Mark Seaver, who is charged with grand theft, and the case has been set for trial in Superior court on October 10.

George Merk is demonstrating a new, mystery-control radio — a neat box which he can carry around under his arm and change the station on whatever radio is on the beam.

A valuable work horse belonging to Thomas Linn was killed by lightning during the storm which swept over Ukiah valley last Monday night. The animal was pastured at the Sandford ranch near Talmage.

E. P. Thurston, Ukiah postmaster, was knocked to the ground and stunned Monday night by the lightning which played around the homes of the city for half an hour and entered houses through the radios. Thurston was watching the storm at his home on North Oak street.

Van Zandt's resort, the oldest tourist camp in Mendocino county, has been purchased by George Normyle of San Francisco, who has had the place under lease for the past year. It is located in Anderson valley and was owned by Avon Ray.

Oscar Long of Covelo escaped with a few scratches and a lame back last week when his car went off the grade a short distance from Dos Rios and landed on a shelf of the canyon instead of continuing the plunge to the rocks below.

Roderick Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Clark, Ukiah golf pro, returned Saturday from Alaska with a 150-pound reindeer which h shot in Ketchikan.

Nina Bonita Sandford, state chairman of choral and choir festivals, California Federation of Music Clubs, was in Ukiah Thursday in the interest of her work.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Oct. 6, 19228

The Dispatch reporter went out o nthe Willits-Fort Bragg road and watched the big steam shovel build a highway along the south slope of the north fork of Big river, and it is simply marvelous to see how it is done. The highway is being built along the side of the mountain which has a slope of 90 degrees, and is covered with a dense growth of timber, mostly small. A highway 14 feet wide and on a railroad grade is being built at the rate of 500 feet a day, with two shifts of eight hours each operating.

Trial of Thomas Hildreth and two Geyer brothers, accused of burning the residence of Earl Long near Dos Rios several months ago, will begin in Superior court at Ukiah next Monday. Last week Judge Preston denied a motion to dismiss the case against the Geyer brothers, on the ground that they had not been arrested within the statutory limit of 60 days after the Grand Jury indictments had been returned. The denial came after District Attorney Lilburn Gibson had shown that the men had been out of the county a portion of the time and that they had been arrested as soon as practicable.

Skaggs Food Store opened for business in Ukiah today in the Marks building.

The Foster Lumber Company has taken over the McKee Shingle Mill at the site of the old Irvine & Muir Lumber Company planing mill and started operations Monday.

Don McPeak, N.W.P. locomotive engineer, who was injured in a wreck near Healdsburg two weeks ago, was released from the St. Francis Hospital at San Francisco the first of the week and has returned to his home in Ukiah. His legs were badly injured when he jumped from the cab, but he is now able to get around with the aid of crutches.

The town of Irmulco, which has been a ghost town since the mill shut down some time ago, was totally destroyed by fire Saturday. John Brooks, the caretaker, and his family, were the only persons living there at the time and it is presumed that it was sparks from the Brooks home that set fire to the roof of an adjoining building, and in a short time the abandoned town was a raging inferno. The loss is approximately $100,000 and the Northwestern Redwood Company had it partially insured. The Brooks family's loss was about $3000 with no insurance.

Tuberculosis Association to Back Organization of Health Department

Dr. David D. Holiday of the California Department of Public Health, San Francisco, spoke Monday night at Willits before the Mendocino County Tuberculosis Association and guests, numbering more than 50 persons, as he outlined the functions of a public health department.

The meeting was called by the Tuberculosis association to give an opportunity for those interested to express their opinions as to the formation of a health program to be administered through a county health department.

After the talks by Dr. Holiday and his assistant, Lucretia Saunders, state health educator, discussions were had from the floor, and among the points brought out were the following:

1) A health district would have the same functions as a health unit, set up under the board of supervisors.

2) The operation of a health district would be invested in a board of health comprised of one member appointed by city councils of Ukiah, Willits and Fort Bragg. Unincorporated areas would be represented by two directors appointed by the board of supervisors.

3) A health district is eligible for state health department funds and if organized relieves the board of supervisors of the responsibility for public health.

4) The maximum tax rate established by law is 15 cents per $100 of valuation.

5) The operation of a healtn district is comparable to the operation of a school district. That is, the board of health levies its own tax, employs its own trained personnel and is directly responsible for the health of the people under its jurisdiction.

6) The school department may contract with a health district or if desirable may place its nurses under the health officers' supervision, but keep its school nursing setup intact.

7) The state health department cannot interfere with the function of a health department or a health district. It can and does, however, put strings on the quality of personnel hired by a health unit. Only qualified trained nurses, sanitarians and health officers may be employed if the unit or district is to receive state health funds, which would amount to $24,000 in state funds and approximately $4000 in federal funds for Mendocino county this year.

Following the public meeting the directors of the tuberculosis association met and unanimously voted to back the movement for a health district, feeling that is is the right of those interested in better health service to petition the people as a whole to see if they would support organization of a health district.

Dr. Robert B. Smalley, president of the association, appointed a steering committee to work with legal advisors and other organizations in preparing the way for a county health district. Members of the committee are Dr. James B. Massengill, chairman; Al Fraga and R. O. Foster of Ukiah, William D. Ford of Willits and Mrs. Jack Bainbridge of Fort Bragg.

Vernon Johnson, Fort Bragg city councilman, said that body had already gone on record as favoring a full-time county health unit.

VERDICT GIVEN IN FORT BRAGG CASE

The damage suit filed in Superior court here last January by Lawrence Ware of Fort Bragg against Charles Van Vlake and William Rowe was decided last week by Superior Judge Lilburn Gibson in favor of Van Vlake and Rowe.

The complaint charged fraud on the part of the defendants in what was alleged to be connivance between them to get possession of the controlling interest in the Standard Bottling Works of Fort Bragg.

Lawrence and Ray Ware owned 52 per cent of the common stock and had an oral agreement that neither would sell his shares without the consent of the other. Lawrence owned 15 shares and his brother owned 11.

The complaint recites how Van Vlake approached Lawrence Ware with an offer of $12,000 for his shares, while owe was dealing with his brother Ray for his part of the stock, offering him $6,500. The brothers agreed to sell and Rowe purchased Ray Ware's shares, "ostensibly" for himself. Van Valke failed to complete his purchase of Lawrence Ware's stock and control of the bottling works passed out of the hands of the Ware brothers.

In awarding judgement to the defendants, Judge Gibson said that although the suit had been brought in good faith, "the plaintiff believing that he had been defrauded, he was unable to prove some of the material allegations . . . he was unable to prove fraud on the part of the defendants. He owns as many shares of stock in the Standard Bottling Works as he ever did and the record is without evidence that his shares are worth less now than before Ray Ware sold his to Van Vlake."

Ware brought suit for $6000 general damages and for $2500 as exemplary damages.

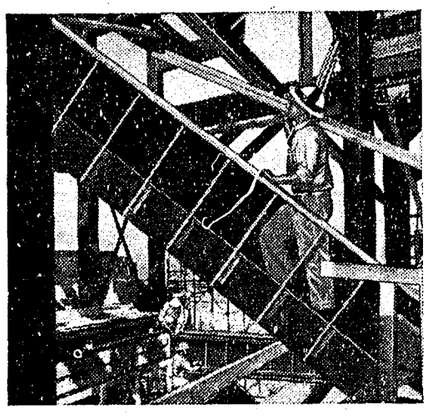
MILLIONTH
Postwar telephone added

How we've put in telephones almost three times as fast as ever before in the West

1. Here is Ashley Stone of Sacramento, California, whose daddy and mother got the millionth telephone we've added since V-J Day. To make this gain, we've actually had to install three million telephones . . . for many of our customers have moved their homes and businesses. Telephones we serve are now at an all-time high . . . over 3,630,000.



2. We've literally built a city spread over the West . . . hundreds of new buildings and major additions. New wire has been strung . . . new cables laid . . . an astounding total of three million miles. And we're rushing still more construction — half a million dollars worth, every day — to meet the public demand for service.

3. An amazing amount of new equipment of all kinds has gone to work. We've filled three times as many orders as were waiting on V-J Day. To add these million telephones, we had to get $400,000,000 of new money from investors. Orders still pour in, and our job is not yet done. But we're working at it mighty hard.

4. Millions of new working dollars . . . needed to extend and improve service . . . must come, not from telephone bills, but from thousands of people who put their savings to work in the telephone business. To attract these working dollars, we must pay a reasonable amount for their use. This depends on the sale of our services at fair and adequate prices.

Shriners Praise Excellent Dinner

"The best cooks in the world," was the unanimous decision of fifty Shriners and guests who assembled at the Grange hall in Potter Valley Thursday evening for their annual venison feed, sponsored by Messrs. Knowles Emerson and William Lawton, proprietors of the Pioneer Inn.

The Shriners spared no adjectives in expressing their enjoyment of the fine food prepared by the Potter Valley ladies who spread greed salad, venison, baked potatoes, country gravy, green corn and whipped cream dessert in proportions that had the guests letting out belt notches. It was good!

The cooks were chairmanned by Olga Spotswood with helpers Elva Pickle, Irene Brooks, Florence Newman, Roberta Harvey, Betty Anderson, Elizabeth Marshall, Sadie Hughes, Bernice Farnsworth, Josie Norman, Geneva Christofferson, Gertrude Murphy and Zoe Myer.

A cocktail party at the Pioneer Inn preceded the dinner, and Stan Norton, former owner of the Inn but now a resident of Nevada, drove over to be with the boys. Norton initiated the yearly venison dinner some years ago and it is now being carried on by Emerson and Lawton.

Kids, Pets Parade To Be October 9

In order to make it easier for the children to assemble, and to give them more time to prepare their costumes and parade regalia, Parent-Teachers Association decided last week to stage the Kiddies and Pets Parade on the morning of Saturday, October 9, instead of the afternoon of a regular school day.

The parade will start promptly at 10:00 a.m. from the front of the grammar school grounds and proceed down Seminary avenue to State street. As the parade turns into State street, it will head north to the court house where the reviewing stand will be located. Passing the reviewing stand, the youngsters will turn west on Standley until they reach School street where they will march back to the grammar school grounds.

Before disbanding, the three winners in each section will be announced and presented with their awards, and all participants will receive refreshments.

All participants will be invited to attend a special movie show in the grammar school auditorium, it was announced by Mrs. Ruth Brunner, chairman of the parade committee.

Sections of the parade will be composed of: First section—Old Fashioned Dress; Second section—Pets; Third section — Decorated Wagons and Carts; Fourth section —Clown Dress; Fifth section — Decorated Bikes. The motif of the first section is expected to be along the lines of the early California Poineers. Anything can be expected in the pet division, but one thing is sure, those who present their pets in the most novel manner can expect to catch the judges' eyes.

Information can be secured by calling 79 and asking for Ruth Brunner.

Garden Club's First Fall Meeting Is Instructive Program On Pest Control

By Mrs. Ralph Hogan

First evening meeting of the fall season of Ukiah Garden Club was called to order by the president, Mrs. George Dietterle, on Thursday, September 23, in the municipal clubhouse.

Plans for the display at the Boonville Fair and Apple Show, October 1-3, were discussed. Displays of flower arrangements for the art show during the Centennial celebration were also discussed.

Mrs. J. E. Harton of Longvale asked the club if it would like to contribute to the purchase of a growth of redwoods being purchased in northern California by the California Garden Clubs. A bronze plaque is to be erected at the site. The matter was taken under advisement until more details could be learned of the project.

The clubhouse was decorated with lovely flower arrangements by the flower committee, Mrs. Arch Moyer, Mrs. A. McKinney and Mrs. L. Whitmore. Mrs. Arthur Romer displayed yellow cactus blooms in a rock setting, and Mrs. Norman Buhn, a rare Colchicum, originally imported from Belgium for medicinal purposes.

Norman Buhn introduced the speaker of the evening, Louis Mather from the state department of agriculture, nursery inspection division. His subject was "Pest Control on Ornamentals." He explained briefly the importance of quarantines for the safety of state agriculture, especially in this day of rapid transportation and increase of pests.

Then he told of the mechanics of pest control: 1—Biological control, controlled by parasites. 2—Timing—finding the proper time in the life cycle of the pest for its complete destruction. 3—Weather—important because at certain temperatures sprays are wasted and inefficient.

Also very important is the selection of the right spray for each particular pest, and the correct dosage. There are many new ingredients on the market and many of these are dangerous poisons and should be used in the correct dosage and handled with caution.

Questions on Ukiah's own pest problems were discussed and by the end of the program each member felt better informed on how to tackle his particular pest problem.

Next meeting will be held the afternoon of October 13 in the home of Mrs. Laurence Wildberger. Mrs. Irene Schmidt of Brookside nursery will discuss Perennials in Ukiah.

Marion Downer, Artist Illustrator Will Exhibit In Vintage Centennial Show

It's hard to understand how anyone as talented and versatile as Marion Downer can be so everlastingly modest. Most artists can be coaxed to sit still for an interview, some quite willingly display their pictures, but Miss Downer, one of Ukiah's really professional artists, and a well known illustrator, scurries off to San Francisco when she hears we're coming.

So we're giving you the story of Marion Downer through the eyes of her sister, Mrs. Martha Tackberry who lives across the street from the library where there are several of Marion Downer's books on the shelves.

Discovering Design is one of her outstanding contributions to artists. Published in 1947 it was called one of the six important books of the year by a New York newspaper. It is of immense value to those with or without technical training or criticism in seeing the elements of design which makes a picture or turns a commonplace object into a work of art.

Design In Nature

Miss Downer uses the inductive method to make her reader realize what design really is. Presented with concise and lucid text, she uses beautifully chosen photographs and drawings to point out the design in nature, as in a coastline or a clump of grass or an eggplant. She reduces a persimmon's form to geometric pattern; a palm leaf to rhythm, a cobweb demonstrates balance.

She is now at work on a new book on art, and ready for the Christmas trade is a new child's book, Here, Susy, by Verna Hills for which Miss Downer has done the illustrations. One of her most popular books at the library is My Room Is My Hobby. It was published several years ago, but she recently received a letter from a school teacher in New Zealand who said she loved it.

The Park That Spring Forgot, by Winifred Welles, who died before it was published, is another book she has illustrated; and The Snow House, a child's book by Marion Johnstone has her whimsical illustrations.

Native Of Spokane

Now, living in Ukiah with her sister, who came here three years ago because she likes Ukiah and thinks it's a nice place to raise her two high school age sons, Miss Downer maintains a studio in San Francisco. She is currently doing illustrations for Sunset Magazine while she completes her latest book. Some of her water colors will be exhibited in the Centennial Art Show by Redwood Empire Art and Music Center which has invited her to appear at the show through the four-day exhibit and meet other local artists and art lovers. Her gracious sister would like to accept the invitation for her, but she can't promise for Miss Downer.

Art show sponsors have also invited her to display some of her wood carving, which she does as a hobby. Miss Downer and Mrs. Tackaberry have another famous sister, Frances Downer, who died several years ago, and was an artist in oils and water color.

Of great interest to ceramics students and artists is a set of books on pottery by Helen E. Stiles which contains Miss Downer's illustrations. It is a comprehensive study of pottery making throughout the world and includes Pottery—United States; Pottery Of the Ancients; Pottery—Indian, and Pottery—European.

Richard Day of Philo, Takes Bride At Catholic Church Rites September 26th

PHILO, Sept. 29.—Una Dorothy Healy became the bride of Richard George Day at a single ring ceremony, which took place in the Catholic church at Mendocino Sunday, September 26. The ceremony was performed by Father Gleason. The bride was lovely, as she walked down the aisle, attired in a floor-length wedding gown, of eggshell chiffon velvet, with a long white lace veil, all of which were brought from England. She carried rosebuds, caught with pink satin ribbon. Her attendant was Mrs. Beth Tolman, matron of honor, who was lovely in blue taffeta, with a bouquet of roses, looped with yellow ribbon. Best man for the groom was his brother, William Day of Ukiah.

Following the ceremony the bride, groom and guests gathered at the new home of the newlyweds in Boonville, where cake and punch were served before the young couple left for places unknown on their honeymoon. For her going away dress, the bride wore an acqua suit trimmed with navy blue and white, with navy blue coat and accessories. The bride arrived here several weeks ago from her home in Stockport, England. She became acquainted with Richard Day, during the war, when he was stationed in England, and later they became engaged.

The groom is the son of Lester Day of Philo, one of the pioneer families of the valley. He is employed with the highway maintenance, and the young couple will live in the house formerly owned by the late J. R. Wilson.

Portola Discovery To Be Re-enacted

All of the color and drama that surrounded the famed march of Captain Don Gaspar de Portola when he and his doughty band discovered San Francisco Bay in 1769, will be reenacted at the coming Portola Festival in San Francisco in October.

The reenactment will be in classic pageant form entitled "The Shining Trail," which will be produced in San Francisco's Cow Palace and will feature hundreds of gorgeously costumed actors as well as scores of animals.

"The Shining Trail" was written by W. B. Garthwaite, renowned author, playwright and west coast advertising man, and was selected in a competition in which scores of plays dealing with Portola were submitted.

The fast-moving drama will represent an investment of more than $100,000 and will be presented in seven performances which will be free to all. The full glory of the days of the Dons will be splashed across a stage more than 100 feet wide. Set designers and builders are busily engaged in erecting full scale houses and even towns and vast ranges of mountains as backgrounds for the dramatic action.

Music Bowl, Art Center Requested

Forward-looking plans of Redwood Empire Art and Music Center were revealed Wednesday night when Paul Sutterley, representing the board of directors asked the council to consider a site for a music bowl and art center when and if the city buys the Vincent Giorno property near the golf course for a ball park and other recreation.

Any buildings proposed for the art and music center would be constructed at their own expense, Mr. Sutterley said, and would conform to the type and style of other structures on the property and be subject to city approval.

Long range plans of the art and music group are ambitious, he said, and they feel that it is in keeping with the needs of a progressing community to set aside now, the property on which they will establish their center. The city has not yet purchased the Giorno property on which its option will expire in mid-October, nor has it sold the old ball park property on south State street, but negotiations will continue, it is reported.

Married In Methodist Chapel

MR. AND MRS. FRANK DUBOIS, (Althea West) who took their wedding vows on Saturday at noon. Both are associated with Mendocino State Hospital in Talmage where they will live. Both are veterans of World War I and members of veterans organizations.

Althea West And Frank DuBois Wed In Methodist Chapel Saturday Noon

A pretty, informal wedding, which took many friends by surprise, was that of Althea West and Frank DuBois in the chapel of the Methodist church on Saturday at noon. The Rev. Charles G. Lindemann performed the marriage rites in the presence of a few friends of the couple.

The bride, who has been associated with Mendocino State Hospital since 1937 as a surgical nurse, was an army lieutenant in World War I, and is the first and only woman member of American Legion, Lewis White Post. She was the third individual to enlist from the hospital in World War II. She is a native of Uvalde, Texas, and has been an active member of Business and Professional Women's Club here.

The groom, who is also associated with the state hospital, formerly lived in Sacramento where he is a member of Veterans of Foreign Wars. He was a corporal with the 36th Air Squadron in World War I (a corporal married a lieutenant, he pointed out proudly). They will make their home on the state hospital grounds and spend weekends at a ranch above Cold creek.

The bride, who is noted among her friends for humor and individuality, wore a simple grey suit with a corsage of gardenias and white carnations. She was attended by Mrs. Ferd Faas who wore a smart black afternoon dress with a large black hat and a corsage of red rosebuds. Mr. Faas was best man at the altar and like the groom, wore a carnation bouttoniere.

Friends who witnessed the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wharton of San Francisco (house-guests of Mr. and Mrs. Faas) and R. H. Baker. After the rites they went to House of Garner for a wedding breakfast and the newlyweds then left on a honeymoon journey to an undisclosed destination.

This drive is sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and they urge that the bundles be at the curb before 9 o'clock on the morning of that day. Remember, the Scouts get the money derived from the drive.

Slot Machine Payoff Testimony Released

Rival slot machine 'racket' rings, bribery of public officials, suspicions of a 'doublecross' and hectic pay-off activities are revealed in testimony presented to the grand jury in its September 14-16 investigation into Mendocino county gambling scandals.

The transcript, 201 pages long, was filed on the same day that six indicted defendants were arraigned before Superior Judge Lilburn Gibson last Friday on charges of conspiracy to violate state gambling laws, and bribery.

The testimony of Fred Grange, Lane's Flat slot machine operator and brother in law of Louis Stralla, gambling figure in southern California, is a frank but sordid tale of a conspiracy to force gambling machine operators to pay off or be closed under pressure from the office of Attorney General F. N. Howser.

It is also the tale of rival pay-off rings and suspicion that Paul McCarthy, local slot and phonograph machine dealer was 'playing both ends against the middle'. Major parts in the crime drama are assigned, by witnesses, to Wiley (Buck) Caddel, ex-investigator for Howser, who quit under fire, and to James (Chinaman) Mulligan, former Los Angeles police officer whom Caddel told Admiral Wm. H. Standley, was the 'bag man' for the shake-down racketeers.

Bribery Story Told

Grange's testimony fills 54 typewritten pages. It tells the story of Mulligan's entrance into Mendocino county gambling; how Sheriff Broaddus and Deputy William White were given bribes amounting to $650 at various times, to assure their compliance with the $4 a week per machine pay-off to members of Howser's investigating staff.

Grange relates their suspicion of Paul McCarthy after it was agreed he was to be the collector of the $4 shake-down who would turn it over to William A. 'Snipe' Griffin, another county slot machine operator, who would deliver it to Mulligan. McCarthy, Grange said, told them they didn't have to worry about the d.a. (Dist. Atty. James E. Busch) that he had known him for years and would take care of him.

When Grange had given McCarthy $100 for the sheriff and later found it was not passed on to Sheriff Beverly Broaddus as agreed, he began to be suspicious, he testified. The name of 'Bones' Remmer and William M. Pechart, San Francisco and Contra Costa county gambling 'bosses were brought into the evidence, indicating that Mulligan (and his partner Caddel) were working a rival 'pitch' in their cut rate syndicate.

Both rings, Grange told the grand jury, claimed an inside connection with the attorney general's office.

"Mulligan was always impressing on me," he said, "that there was nothing to be afraid of; that they had a direct connection with Howser himself and that Lentz (Walter Lentz, chief investigator for Howser) and all the boys were working together—that is, Lentz and the other fellow had come out of Long Beach; they had worked on the Los Angeles police force before. And so he (Mulligan) called Caddel for every little thing . . . I mean for any decision that would come up, he would call Caddel."

Grange told of a meeting in the Palace Hotel in San Francisco last spring where the protection system was being discussed with Mulligan, who went 'down the hall' to consult Caddel and that later he (Grange) saw Caddel in the hotel who told him whatever Mulligan did was all right—that they were partners.

The entire pay-off was set up, Grange said, on the threat that either the operators would 'deal with the state or the state would come in and close them up.' Their proof of ability to deliver protection from the attorney general's office, was made in an 'official visit' by Caddel, on April 29.

"Line Up McCarthy"

His own part in the shake-down, Grange testified, was to 'line up McCarthy, and have McCarthy line up slot machine operators in the county for the $4 a week payoffs.

There was a possible reference to the Remmer-Pechard syndicate when Grange told Broaddus "the former setup for protection was too high and they couldn't get it." Therefore, he explained, the attorney general's office would not interfere provided the sheriff and district attorney in Mendocino county were taken care of.

Grange recalled having met Griffin, ex-Los Angeles bookmaker last year. At that time he said, Griffin had an interest in the slot machines at Lane's Flat, the Eel river resort in which Grange was a partner with Louis Stralla, a brother of Tony Cornera Stralla of gambling ship fame.

McCarthy told the grand jury he was drawn into the protection scheme by fear that the attorney general's office would close him up if he failed to contribute to a group supporting the so-called California Bill of Rights initiative measure to legalize gambling. He said it was a fantastic bill; that they demanded $5000 which would assure him being "commissioner" of gambling in Mendocino county after the bill was passed—that they later came down to $750 but he didn't 'buy'.

Doesn't Know Caddel

McCarthy sustained Sheriff Broaddus' testimony on various secret meetings, prior to the June 13 raid. Of $200 given him to hush Broaddus, he kept $100 and spent it, he said, because the operators were not paying off and he didn't have time to visit them and make the $4 a week collection.

He assured the grand jurors he had not been able to identify Caddel when he was brought here for the purpose of identification, as the man who had contacted him with relation to the payoffs. He said the man might have been Mulligan.

Of his first connection with Grange early in the year (who had become a partner in Lane's Flat with Robert Gray) McCarthy said, Grange asked him what the deal was in this county . . . how much you had to pay. "I told him," McCarthy said, "that there was absolutely no deal. It was strictly a friendship proposition. We kind of imposed on our friends and ran slot machines."

He was shocked later, he said, to learn that Grange had been to the sheriff and the sheriff had referred Grange to him. Later, he said, he talked to Broaddus who told him he figured 'those people' wanted to run something besides slot machines, to open gambling and he wanted to lead them along."

Gave $150 Expenses

McCarthy agreed to line up the operators, he said, but he didn't remember whether or not he'd ever talked to anybody. He kept stringing Grange along by telling him he was too busy to get around and see them. He figured Busch would not bother the operators unless the sheriff made a complaint.

Busch interrupted him there to ask if he, Busch, had not said he would prosecute any charge made if any citizen of the county brought a complaint. McCarthy corroborated this.

Busch asked, "By the way, Mr. McCarthy, did I ever tell you anything about prosecuting you?"

"Yes," McCarthy answered, "you said you were a friend of mine but if I was ever charged with running slot machines you would prosecute me just as hard as if it was anybody you had never known. And I said that was good enough for me."

McCarthy said he gave Grange $150 for expenses in getting the thing lined up. Later, promised he would be introduced to a man from the attorney general's office who would give him proof of the state protection, McCarthy became annoyed when the man didn't show up and the agreement appeared to fall apart for the time being. The mystery man (Mulligan or Caddel?) did call on him later. After the raid, June 13, he was asked to identify the man as Caddel and he felt badly about being called a liah when he failed to do so, he said. "After all," he told the jurors, "I am sorry that I gave Bev to understand it might have been him. But it wasn't him and I saw him so that is all there is to it. It might have been Mulligan—I don't know."

McCarthy testified $200 a week per machine is an average 'take'. The machines are worth from $400 to $1500 each. He has $50,000 invested in coin operated phonographs and other amusement machines, he said. About a year ago he had $15,000 worth confiscated. The federal tax on gaming machines is $100 a year; on purely amusement machines it is $10 a year.

Asked by a juror at the conclusion of the probe ,"Well, do you feel, Mr. McCarthy, the state is involved in this racket?" McCarthy answered, "Well—I don't know. I told Mr. Howser that if it wasn't and if his office weren't involved, I felt that he had some people in his office who were definitely involved."

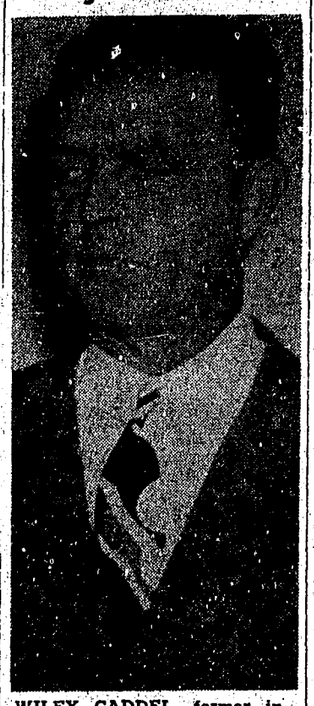
Sheriff Broaddus's testimony confirmed the story he had already told of pretending to play along with the protection racket, and accepting several bribes while he gathered evidence that resulted in the June 13 raid in which he brought in more than 20 illegal machines and arrested Grange, Gray and Griffin.

Arraigned in superior court last Friday, the six defendants under indictment will appear to make their pleas on Friday, October 1, Caddel was represented by Atty. Robert Neeb of San Francisco. Burke and Rawles are defending McCarthy, Harold Brunner appeared for Gray. Grange said he has not yet obtained an attorney and Griffin said he will be represented by counsel but failed to give the name.

Caught In Dragnet

FRED GRANGE, Lane's Flat resort manager, whose testimony before the Grand Jury bared illegal slot machine operations in this county. Grange was arrested on June 13 in Sheriff Broaddus' countywide raid on slot machines.

Caught In "Slot" Net



WILEY CADDEL, former investigator for the attorney general's office, was among the six indicted by the Mendocino County Grand Jury in its probe of slot machine payoffs.

Archers To Stage Exhibition In Park

There is romantic tradition about the sport of archery and historic simile about the flight of the arrow. And now for the first time, Ukiah will have a chance to see an exhibition of bow and arrow prowess during the Vintage Centennial Celebration.

The public will also see the handsome bows and hand-made arrows and targets produced by the local experts of Ukiah Roving Archery Club. Members will exhibit their finest weapons in the indoor section of the Redwood Empire Art and Music Center art show in the clubhouse October 7, 3, 9, 10.

But the major contribution will be archery in action when they ride in the parade and immediately after the parade, stage an exhibition shoot in municipal park. This will be on Saturday afternoon, October 9, and the following day the archers will compete in an open state tournament on their roving range on the Ferd Vallette ranch east of the city.

The tournament and Vintage Centennial celebration is expected to bring many bow and arrow experts from out of town who will also figure in the parade and exhibition shoot in the park immediately afterwards.

Plans for the celebration and tournament were made at a meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Way on Ford street last week. E. A. Miller, vice president of the club was named acting president until the regular election of officers in March. Mr. Miller is associated with Purity Stores here and lives in Talmage.

After the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed and Mrs. Way served refreshments.

MRS. HURLOCK ILL

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hurlock of Oakland, were concerned to hear, Tuesday evening by telephone, that the condition of Mrs. Hurlock, who has been ill for some time, has worsened. Mr. Hurlock was former manager of the telephone company here before he accepted a promotion to the Oakland office.

PAROLE VIOLATOR GOES TO QUENTIN

Gary, De Priest Pay For Violation Of Probation

Chastine Gary and Jewell De Priest know now that sometimes the violation of probation is worse than committing the crime for which probation was granted. Their parole has been revoked and Gary was sentenced Friday to San Quentin, while DePriest now has to pay the county $1000 instead of $600 which Superior Judge Gibson burdened him with originally.

Defendants in a charge of car theft, Gary and DePriest pleaded guilty. They stole a car at Fort Bragg, wrecked it and dunked it in the Caspar millpond. They were granted probation of three years and ordered to pay $600 each to the county, out of which the owner of the car would be reimbursed for $1000 damage to his car. Other items included in the probationary terms were that neither was to leave the county without the consent of the probation officer; they were to abstain from intoxicants and keep on their good behavior.

With Gary the terms didn't take, as pertaining to liquor, it appearing from the record that he got crocked on many occasions, and in the sight of the public. The San Quentin sentence came as a matter of course, since the court had made him that promise, if he violated the order.

DePriest may have become homesick. He left the county and visited his folks in Louisiana without consent of the probation officer. However, he came back, and the court looked upon his breach of faith as "considerably less reprehensible than that of Gary," but could not let the matter pass without an extra penalty. So DePriest's terms were modified to the extent that he must pay the whole of the $1000 remaining unpaid, instead of his half, with all the other terms to remain in full force and effect.

City Increases Gas Capacity

With the installation of a new 10,000 b.t.u. gas machine by the City of Ukiah, Mayor Forrest Hughes said last week the city will make an aggressive drive for new gas customers. The new $4000 machine, installed at the gas plat opposite the N.W.P depot, increases by one-third the capacity of the plant.

Right now, with the gas strike on, the city is cautioning consumers to use gas sparingly to make the present supply last. The current supply will take care of consumers for about ten days, Mr. Hughes said, and there is no information on when a new shipment can be obtained.

However, this emergency will end with the end of the gas strike, and the city will seek new customers in order to use the full capacity of its plant. Profits from the sale of gas, water and electricity are placed in the general fund and reduce taxes, so that in effect, every taxpayer is a 'stockholder' in the city's utility service, he said.

Rates for city gas are as low, and possibly lower than the cost of bottled gas and the uniform service from city mains is an advantage, he pointed out.

New Plywood Mill Starts at Willits

Testing of equipment was completed and actual production at the Industrial Plywood Company's new plant in southeast Willits was commenced last week, it was announced by R. O. Carlson, manager. The mill was shuttling out 4x6 plywood panels which will make up the plant's first shipment of two carloads.

About 30 men are employed at the present time but upward of 50 will be necessary when full scale operations are under way, Carlson said.

Peeling and drying operations have been under way and gluing equipment, press, spreader and dryer were checked for efficiency before the plant started production.

An 8-acre pond holds a small stockpile of logs, but this will be increased to a full winter's supply as soon as possible.

Anderson Valley 80 Bought By E. B. Cox

E. B. Cox of Boonville, owner of the Mountain View ranch 14 miles southwest of Boonville on the county highway, has purchased an adjoining 80 acres of land from E. B. DeGolia through the real-estate agency of Lee B. Wilson.

Mr. Cox now owns 3100 acres of Anderson valley land on which sheep raising is the main business. He has contracted with Diamontine brothers to remove a large amount of timber from his ranch.

Anderson Valley Invites You to Fair

THE APPLE IS KING at the Mendocino County Fair & Apple Show at Boonville this weekend, October 1-3, and its queen will be such pretty girls as these: Pattie Patton, Eva Pardini and Donna Strickland. Other attractions will be horse races, rodeos, horse shows, sheep dog trials, parades ,dances, carnivals, and hige exhibits of Mendocino county products.

Stolen Bases and Errorless Playing Marks Talmage Win Over Merchants

Talmage Sluggers stole seven bases, scored 10 runs and turned in an errorless performance to overwhelm the Ukiah Merchants 10-2 and take the first game of the "Little World Series." Laviletta, Harding and Severi each tallied one stolen base. Wada nabbed two and Ottosen surprised the fans with stealing two bases.

In the fourth frame Ottosen objected to the Merchant's chukker, Parker, who continually raised his hands to his face before delivery, and players gathered from all over the diamond to take part in the discussion. Parker an ex-Arizona and Texas leaguer, was allowed to continue, but was closely watched throughout the remainder of the game.

Severi allowed five scattered hits against Parker, and Guidi and Brumback were acclaimed for their sterling performances in center field and at second base.

Bobby Valentini scored on Openshaw's fly to center to give Ukiah one run in the first inning. The Merchants remained scoreless until the eighth when Bobby Valentini drove out the games only 2-bagger and scored on the fielder's choice to Parker, giving Ukiah their second and final score.

Talmage scored their first two run in the last half of the third inning. Moroni cracked out a hard single just inside the foul line and on an error advanced to second. Brumbach sacrificed, advancing Moroni to third. Severi walked and stole second, Laviletta hit to short and an error scored Moroni and Severi, giving the Sluggers two runs, one hit, two errors.

Wada walked in the fourth and scored on Ottosen's single adding one more run to Talmage's score.

Stoles bases by Wada and Ottosen gave th Suggers two runs in the sixth, making the score 5 to 1.

Wada's single in the seventh scored Laviletta and Guidi and Ottosen accounted for his second stolen base in this inning. Score 7 to 2.

In the eighth, Brumbach walked, Severi broke his bat on a fly-out to second, Laviletta singled to center, Guidi walked, Mosna singled to second base and Brumbach and Laviletta scored on the resultant fielder's choice. Wada grounded out to second, scoring Guidi for the final tally.

Crane, Grilli and Paladini officiated throughout the game.

FORT BRAGG MAPS ANTI-RED PLANS

First steps in the Fort Bragg American Legion post's campaign against Communism will be dual in nature, Commander T. R. O'Bayley, Jr., says, "We will have an essay contest, open to all persons of all ages, and in addition we will be on Radio KDAC each Monday evening starting October 4th."

For the essay contest, which will be limited to 50 words or less, the subject is, "Why Americanism is Right and Communism Is Wrong." Fort Bragg's city councilmen will be the judges. There will be a first and second prize as well as runner-up prizes. Judges are C. Louis Wood, mayor, Vernon Johnasen, Bernard Vaughn, E. V. Montgomery and Frank Petersen.

The contest ends October 20.

There also will be a contest for the naming of the American Legion post's radio program. Because of the nature of the subject, names must be of five words or less.

The anti-Communist campaign of the Legion is under the direction of C. A. McKelvey, chairman of the Americanism committee.

The anti-Communist campaign was started last week, following the report at the State American Legion convention that there were 180 known members of the Communist party in and near Fort Bragg.

Several Attending Operatic Season

Giovanna Bricarelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Bricarelli of Brush street, spent five days of her vacation from the Automobile Association office, in San Francisco where she attended the opera. She saw Don Giovanni and Barber of Seville. She also attended a performance of Medea and found it a play of great dramatic power.

During her stay in the city she visited Mrs. William R. Jordan of Oakland, formerly of Oakland. Mary Baccaglio, Martha and Mary Ellen Mannon, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Branson are also opera goers from Ukiah this season. Mr. and Mrs. Branson returned last week but the Misses Mannon and Miss Baccaglio are remaining to enjoy later performances.

Rains Bring Relief to State Fire Fighters

Forestry firemen welcomed the three-day storm last week, the heavy downpours soaking the county and ending the outbreak of blazes for the time being.

Rainfall records at Howard Park showed 4.08 inches were at that point of the storm.

No fires were reported in the county during the past week.

BOTTLED GAS PLENTIFUL

Notwithstanding the report last week that bottle gas users were in danger of a shortage because of the strike, this paper is informed that there is now an adequate supply of this fuel on hand by dealers in this county. Some dealers assert that a shortage in his case is a long ways off.

New Trial of Damage Suit

A new trial has been ordered of the damage action brought by John L. Alemeda against Loren Downing and Albert Peterson of Fort Bragg in which Alemeda sued to recover for burns received from an explosion of a gasoline tank in the garage of the defendants.

The matter was tried before Superior Judge Lilburn given and a judgment rendered in Alemeda's favor, but in a resume of the decision Judge Gibson said "the findings did not follow the court's decision and error was committed, and a new trial must be granted for that reason."

Alemeda had taken his car into the garage of Downing and Peterson at Fort Bragg to have the gasoline tank repaired. He was told it was a dangerous job and to keep away while the welding was in progress. He left, but came back before the job was completed and was standing by when the explosion occurred.

The court, desiring to re-examine the issue of contributory negligence and other points involved, ordered a new trial.

Newcomers Happy To Live In Ukiah

Now that she's seen her daughter Joan off to Radcliffe college in Boston for another term, Mrs. E. T. F. Wohlenberg is having time to get acquainted with Ukiah. She's a persistant Californian—whereever her husband's work has taken them, she has a gentleman's agreement that they'll always be Californians. They've lived in Palo Alto, Berkeley and Carmel. Since Mr. Wohlenberg has taken over general management of Masonite Corporation's Ukiah project, she's happy to add Ukiah to the list of California places she likes—and she does like it very much.

Her interests are cosmopolitan. They range from archeology and primitive cultures to history, art and music. She's studied water color in a Michigan college and in California; she was a member of the Delphians in Palo Alto. She likes the story book atmosphere of Carmel where artists and writers are doing interesting things.

She feels Redwood Empire Art & Music Center is opening a fine avenue to greater cultural enjoyment for people of the Redwood Empire and offers graciously to take part in its activities.

Mrs. Roy Wagner, whose husband is forest manager for the Masonite project is particularly interested in dramatics, and so is Mrs. Walker Tilley, wife of the Masonite forester. Mr. and Mrs. Wagner came from San Francisco (they lived in Marin County) and the Tilleys are practically home folks. Mr. Tilley was born in Arcata and his wife is a member of the Flynn family of Albion. They're living in Albion until they find a satisfactory home in Ukiah. The Wagners are living on Main street near Mountain View Motor Court while they go through the househunting headache all new comers seem to have to experience.

These interesting people are as great an addition to the social life of Ukiah as the firm they represent is to its industrial growth. The Wohlenbergs live in the Cleland apartment at 407 Park boulevard while they too hunt for a location in which to make a permanent home in Ukiah.

RETURN TO COLLEGES

Among local young people returning to college this fall, is John Isnard, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Isnard of North State street, who is a major in business administration in Santa Clara University. Another is Gary Radcliffe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Friend, who entered the University of California in Berkeley.
